The Matter of Adjournment Etc.

WASHINGTON, June 13—It is considered some a question whether congress will be in readiness to adjourn as early as next Wednesday as the date now fixed but doubt is entertained at the capitol that the indispensable public business can be completed some time during the present week and that the session shall terminate by Friday or Saturday at the latest. The senate will concur in the house amendments to Bayard's deputy marshal bill to morrow, and as it will of course be promptly laid before the president there is little room for speculation and controversy as to whether his measure will be approved or vetoed. No one appears to have positive information of his weekness intentions in the matter, but the leaders of the dominant party in congress seem very free from reserve in regard to his decision. He is undoubtedly no disposition to treat party leaders to the surprise on account of a veto of the bill If it be vetoed they admit that it is a compromise suggested by General Garfield that it meets with general approval by fair minded men and that if President Hayes refuses to kill it he will not distress the republican party for it half so much as he will his own political brethren for they (the democrats) are satisfied that all the political capital that can be made out of such a veto will inure to the democrats. It is thought probable in some quarters that the president will assume the responsibility of acting on the bill by simply holding it until after congress adjourns but the most prevalent belief is that he will promptly approve it.

The general deficiency bill as passed by the senate yesterday contains all the Pacific coast items reported in these dispatches as agreed to by the house on the 5th inst. together with an increase of the amount for Utah territorial contingents of $3000 or replacing furniture in the office of the surveyor general of Washington territory destroyed by fall of a but ding

APPALLING DISASTER.

Collision of Passenger Steamboats in Long Island Sound

The "Narragansett" Burns and Goes Down —Many Lives Lost

A Fearful Scene of Death—The Water Alive with Struggling Humanity

Distressing Incidents—Partial List of the Lost

The Officers and Crew of the Lost Vessel, and the Captain of the "Stonington" Severely Censured

$100,000 Property Lost

SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN

NEW YORK, June 12—The steamboats Stonington and Narragansett were in collision last night on Long Island Sound near the Connecticut river The Narragansett took fire and sank Most of her passengers were rescued, scattered along the Long Island shore. Both steamers belonged to the same line. The Narragansett was a regular it from New York to Stonington and the steamer Connecticut was returning to New York. The collision occurred about 11:5 P M off the Connecticut river The Narragansett took fire and sank in four fathoms of water The passengers from both steamers were transferred to the steamer City of New York of the Fall River line Pier 28 and they arrived in New York at 11 in this morning It is impossible to ascertain at present the loss of life. Two bodies however, are already recovered

The Purser's Statement.

The purser of the Narragansett stated that there were not more than 300 passengers on the boat and that the loss cannot exceed 50, as it is known that more than 200 were brought to the city and large numbers were taken back to Stonington It is also known that a schooner which came up and sent out boats picked up several people A passenger and a naval cadet were swimming about for over an hour before being picked up, seeing what was seen deliberately to shoot himself when signs of fire and that the boat was sinking were raised The report of a pistol was also heard in another direction A dense cloud of the Narragansett says the jumped overboard as soon as the collision took place and clung to a spar He saw a boat lowered from the Narragansett overturned and the occupants, he thinks, were all drowned in five minutes after the collision There were five feet of water in the hold and ten minutes the steamer was burned to the water's edge An old lady struggling in the water was rescued and a young woman who terribly A rail was made and passengers crowded upon it He great numbers of both persons fainted after getting a foothold upon it Ropes flung from the City of New York were eagerly clutched and frantic efforts made to reach it, although the weight of the people, struck it so forcibly as to endanger the structure. It was finally taken in tow by a row boat.

Charges against the Officers and Crew of the Narragansett.

Leonard, of Booth a Tanner, one of the passengers condemns strong y the officers and crew of the Narragansett The Captain was the last to leaving for the life boat. Mrs Osborne threw a six year old child to a Tebeau, and then jumped from the maindeck and was rescued she and child her high clothes and the child was saved The screams from every side were heartrending and continuous both of the passengers think that 150 must have been lost Wives, mothers husbands, children rescued—all mourned lost ones in those never to be forgotten Some children were rescued stark naked while very few women had anything on but their undergarments It is said that the officers did not let the passengers know the true state of affairs and many women were induced by them to return to their state rooms, thereby losing time and likely their lives

The disaster has caused intense excitement in this city and throughout New England, where the passengers in general belonged A deck hand in a life boat bore the tidings of the old lady who was desperately clinging to the side of the boat She begged to be saved, but was finally compelled to let go her hold and was probably drowned

A Passenger's Statement.

A passenger says that there were between 400 and 500 passengers on board That all the berths and all staterooms were full and that there must have been a great many sleepless. He adds that the Narragansett was running at a pretty fair rate of speed when the collision occurred The Stonington struck amidships and raked to the stern The force of the collision caused the Narragansett to list heavily to port and in less than five minutes she went down as far as the main deck and grounded Shortly after that I saw a sheet of flame shoot out of the engine room and immediately it seemed that the entire vessel was on fire While standing there he reached for a life hand and two rafts, but failed and then leaped overboard and caught a rope of one floating near on which were five women and one child The current carried the boat with the rope to the shore Boston also reached the scene of the disaster and rescued many persons.

Arrival of the Damaged Steamer at Stonington.

STONINGTON, Conn., June 13.—The steamer Stonington arrived at 6 30 this morning with about fifty survivors from the Narragansett. The bow of the former was stove in nearly to the water line She took the Narragansett at 11 30 on the starboard side forward of the wheel house The shock burst the gas tank and in fifteen minutes the Narragansett was on fire and soon sunk The steamers New York and Connecticut coming to her assistance and the boats and life rafts of the four steamers were lowered and put in service Two hours elapsed before the last passenger was picked up Most of the passengers were transferred to the City of New York Passengers say that the officers and crew of the Narragansett behaved with great coolness and nerve On the arrival of the Stonington the village was aroused and men and women were busy providing clothing and assistance for the twenty five women on board in night clothes One died before reaching here from the shock. Her body is not yet identified. Two men also died from the shock Wood of the 68th street M E church of New York city, who was on his first trip east died on the eastern bound passengers left on a special train No estimate can be made here of the loss of life The general agreement among survivors is that out of a passenger list of more than 400 a large number must have been lost, as the water around the burning steamer was alive with struggling people clinging to the raft and every conceivable thing Most of the women brought here were in the water several hours. One lady had about $3000 in her valise, which was lost. Two ladies on the steamer Stonington died after being picked up It is feared most of the passengers in the berths below the main deck had not time to save themselves. The loss of the steamer Stonington was broken off

Statement of a Lady Passenger—Horrible scenes.

Lizzie Peale a passenger says that everybody were out of their senses I asked a man (a passenger) to save me He pushed me away and had not time enough to do to save himself By that time the boat was sinking and the water was up to my knees on the main deck I knew I should be drowned if I stayed where I was. The water was gaining on me all the time I went to the rail The captain and some other men everybody who could help were getting the last life boat down. The captain said to the men to hurry up. They seemed too much frightened to help The captain lifted me up and put me in before they lowered her Another lady ran to get in She slipped and broke her wrist I took a good hold on them lowered the boat and as soon as she touched the water all the men captain and all jumped in. No other ladies got in A lady and her baby not more than eight months old, were left behind on deck She begged of us to let her in, but the boat had floated away several feet from the steamer and we had no oars She kept on beseeching us to take her. The last I saw of her she had her hands raised crying for us to come. We had to go then, because the steamer was becoming wrapped in flames There was only a little space left on the end not reached and she was standing there crying They put one foot their hand and pushed right off from the burning Narragansett I should say 12 minutes after the collision. Another lady came and gave us two oars. A lady, gentleman and three children were then in the water near our boat. I begged to get in but we told them no as the boat would capsize. They hung on to the stern of our boat. I don't know what became of them after that We saw two children—a boy about seven years old and a girl a little younger—in the water. They seemed to have no life preservers I saw them sink a little distance off We rowed up to the City of New York and took us in. We found on the City of New York a good many rescued persons. Some were injured A lady who had been clinging to a rope on the Narragansett had lost all the flesh from the inside of her hand We all were quiet in the boat. Almost all were drenched and were shaking with chills The passenger of the City of New York wrapped them in blankets and gave much whiskey to keep them warm. We had just left when the boat caught on fire. Everybody could have been saved if the captain of the Connecticut who ran into us had sent his boats or if he had called up his men if out he didn't do anything

Other Statements

Lee Roome of Norfolk, Mass. a passenger on the Narragansett says I was young, then I was told, on time, any desire to be getting burned alive and not knowing how to swim went back to their cabins and left me with other gentlemen who had tried to have fitted to the preservers the first mate told me that would hold

Fires on board the ship that he is making every effort to get all of the passengers off the Narragansett but it has probably gone down with the cook Report the best is formation no such as that he was told to hope that the number of lost could not be more than 200 or 300 The steamers New York and Connecticut coming to her assistance and the boats and life rafts of the four steamers were lowered and put in service Two hours elapsed before the last passenger was picked up Most of the passengers were transferred to the City of New York Passengers say that the officers and crew of the Narragansett behaved with great coolness and nerve On the arrival of the Stonington the village was aroused and men and women were busy providing clothing and assistance for the twenty five women on board in night clothes One died before reaching here from the shock. Fools and their Folly

SAN FRANCISCO June 12—A meeting of San Francisco socialists numbering about 500, was held at the sand lot last evening, Frank Rooney, formerly prominent in the W P C, presiding The object of the meeting was to extend aid and comfort to the Mussel Slough settlers in their struggle with the railroad company Mr Chivers, one of the settlers was present and presented their case to the public The settlers would make no further compromise with the company, but would carry out the contest to the end. J P Haggerty, a red hot socialist of this city, made a fiery speech full of blood and thunder and read a series of resolutions to the effect that the socialistic labor party is in sympathy with all efforts to secure the inalienable rights of all men to the elements of natural wealth and the product of their labor, and equally opposed to the control of the labor by those who perform no labor, but rob the working classes of their rights to the use of land and water, that the party is in sympathy with the Mussel Slough settlers in their contest that the ownership of natural gifts cannot be legislated away from the people, that land grants to railroads have no bind long force, that the republican and democratic parties are responsible for the perpetration of such grants by railroad and other land grabbers, that the majority in the legislature, board of supervisors and vigilance committee of San Francisco are ingendiaries in the state and should be prosecuted as such that railroad managers are morally guilty of the murder of the Tulare settlers and should be held personally responsible for the consequences

WASHINGTON June 1

McDonald supported the resolutions and came Kellogg

Hill favor d the resolutions and criticised the action of the democrats opposing them

Butler explain d and sustained his position

Hill in a ld last speech declared that his own bravery during the war was not inferior to Hamilton's and he was brave enough now not to boast of it He was ashi med to appreciate Hampton's services and would make him a union man He had always been one He credit them for to make a speech es to show the north on peace that he had been brought to a condition of submission and subservient loyalty He said that spoiled office was much clearer than butcher

Butler said the last respect for Hill would not be increased if he understood that Hill would admit Kellogg whom he doubted his oath that if he had now the slightest doubt of his election he (Hill) move to vacate the seat and be would join Hill and ask investigation It was glad to learn that Hill was a union man but there were years when he did not hear so much of it

Eaton from the committee on appropriations reported with amendments the general deficiency bill calendar

Williams moved to postpone the Kellogg resolutions and consider the Mexican and Indian war pensions bill, agreed to by a party vote Hoar averring that the idea was to get rid of the Kellogg resolution and the democrats denying

Blaine gave notice of an amendment shutting out from pensions those who were not injured by the war for which d d not need pecuniary aid

House bill making appropriations for the payment of claims allowed by commission under act of 1871 and acts amendatory thereof passed The appropriation amounts to as at $349 -100

The general deficiency bill was taken up.

Eaton stated that the senate committee on appropriations had made reductions in the house bill amounting to $230 867 and had added by amendments $23 932 leaving $1 594,000 The committee amendments were passed on in committee of the whole and the bill was reported to the

The Daily Oregonian.

MONDAY MORNING, JUNE 14, 1880.

A PARTY WITHOUT PRINCIPLES.

Modern democracy is wrong in essential particulars. It adheres to a doctrine regarding the relative powers of the national and state governments. It professes belief in the power of a state to decide in cases in which there is a dispute between the two. It virtually denies the authority of congress to legislate for the enforcement of the constitutional amendments adopted to secure to the people the rights for which they fought in the war of the rebellion. Though their leaders deny it, their party refuses free suffrage in the southern states not only to the colored people, but to all who do not vote the democratic ticket. They distorted or ignored the oscillatory policy of President Hayes, and persisted in the suppression of the voice of those who did not agree with them in the policy that the offices were made for the democrats and not for the people. They have made a most disgraceful record in congress, so far as they have been allowed to go, by an executive who has shown a full share of backbone whenever democratic aggression on the legitimate powers of the general government has proceeded to too great a length. The public interests have not been advanced by the passage of a single law which has not in some way been susceptible of an interpretation to the advantage of the party. They have hampered the executive in the discharge of his sworn duty under the constitution; they have weakened the army, whose business it has been to protect our people on the frontiers from marauding savages; they have endeavored to impair the efficiency and curtail the power of the federal courts to enforce the laws of the United States, conspiring to have those laws ignored or only partially administered. They did what they could to defeat the success of a policy which, in spite of their obstructive efforts, has brought order out of chaos and restored the confidence of our own people and those of other nations, in the financial integrity of the government and business prosperity to the country.

In this arraignment of the party much has been omitted which it has done inconsistent with the spirit of the age and the genius of American institutions. It took a departure from the doctrines of the fathers in the days of Polk, it was too weak under Pierce to retract its errors, and its evil course culminated under Buchanan in national disaster and widespread ruin. Since that it has been a party of opposition, never advancing, never offering anything better, but always fighting what its opponents propose. It opposed the war to preserve the government, it opposed the constitutional amendments to secure the results of the war and the legislation to give those amendments active force. It opposed the resumption of specie payments, which has tended so much to restore the business activity and life which had been so long prostrated by its obstructive policy. For these reasons the people of the United States have kept that party out of power, and will keep it so until it shows that its claims to preference are founded upon something other than opposition to republicanism. It is a party without principles and without a policy. It is no more the democratic party of Jefferson and Jackson than the Mormon religion is the religion of the Savior. Errors in republican administration have given cause for dissatisfaction resulting in the local or temporary success of the democracy, and whenever the people have been called upon to pronounce judgment between the two parties on matters of principle, unbiased by influences transient in character, attributable to mistakes of men and not to the defects of party principle, they have spoken in emphatic condemnation of the party which for over a quarter of a century has shown that its motive is spoils and its object official power.

A Philadelphia exchange says: "Representative Alexander H. Stephens, who is in Philadelphia on committee business, told a reporter of the Philadelphia Press that this congress 'will go down to posterity as the do-nothing congress; perhaps the most indolent and listless in the history of the government.'" And he might have still further remarked in this same vein of intelligence and candor, that since the democrats have had a majority in congress they have most signally shown their inability to grapple with questions of statesmanship. As mere politicians, of small caliber too for the most part, in their eagerness and zeal to advance the interest of the democratic party and gratify an irrational prejudice against the republican cause, they have utterly neglected many important propositions and measures, and most shamefully delayed action upon a number of matters which urgently demanded attention. The sentiment expressed by Stephens about this congress is sanctioned by a very large proportion of the more intelligent of the democracy. The fact is the democracy has been weighed and found wanting.

The doctrine promulgated in the complaint of the Oregonian Railway Company, in seeking to have the city levee condemned for railway purposes, has been quite extensively discussed by the citizens of Portland, and while it is not our purpose to argue it here, we will not be trenching on the prerogative of the courts to say that the same doctrine would enable the company to condemn any private property for similar purpose. The facts of the case in hand are: The city owns a valuable piece of ground upon which the railway company desires to locate its depot. It therefore claims that it can appropriate it for its use, at such figure as a jury may say it is worth, whether the city be willing or not. The issue of the suit will be watched with much interest.

In the city election which will occur one week from to-day, the city will be fortunate if it secures the services of those retiring for another term. Messrs. Simon and Opitz have served the city for three years, and have contributed largely to the many reforms which have been carried out in that time. During all that time not the smell of jobbery has attached to either of them.

The candidates for supreme judges on the republican ticket have each received about the same number of votes. On the democratic ticket Kelly and Prim run a few votes behind Burnett, but all three are buried beneath majorities ranging from 1750 to 2000.

We said soon after the election that Mr. George's majority would not be less than a thousand. A day or two passed and we raised our estimate to 1200. Latest returns indicate now that his majority will be about 1650.

A few days ago we ventured a piece of friendly advice to the democracy of this county, and its organ pretended to reject it, but we see it repeats it as its own, with some variation in form only.

THE NORTHWEST.

Western Oregon.

The public schools of Albany will close on Friday, the 18th inst.

Several new buildings are in process of construction at Corvallis.

An attempt is being made to start a saloon at Scio, the third attempt within a short time.

J. J. Dempsey and wife, of Dixie, celebrated the fortieth anniversary of their marriage on the 3d inst.

The Adventists have been holding some very interesting services in their church at Beaverton, during the present week.

The Dimond was beached below Astoria on Thursday for the purpose of removing several fathoms of net which had wound itself around her propellers, rendering them useless.

Citizens of Salem look on with displeasure while Marion Square is being turned into a pasture and littered with the debris of a camping ground while the Adventists hold possession.

A little boy aged seven or eight years, a son of a Russian-Finn named Gennell, was accidentally drowned in the Nesalem river, at Mishowaka, on the 3d inst. It is the first death in that settlement for fourteen years.

Riverside: The grading on the railway track to the gravel bar at Independence is completed, the pile driving finished, and the track will be laid as soon as the river falls sufficiently to permit the loading of gravel trains. Sufficient gravel will be taken from this bar to ballast the road from Corvallis to Portland during the summer.

Two brothers named Cook, and a lad named Piercy, were arrested some months ago in Salem for killing a hog that belonged to Mr. Hall, and escaped the penitentiary by a mere scratch. All are again in trouble, and this time on the more serious charge of horse stealing. They have been placed under bonds of $250 each to await the action of the grand jury, and will probably receive a check in their criminal career by a term in the penitentiary.

Southern Oregon.

Considerable volunteer grain will be harvested in Lake county this season.

The growing importance of Independence demands the erection of a good school building and the establishment of a graded school.

A flock of 900 sheep, belonging to Marks & Co., were driven through Roseburg last Wednesday on the way east of the mountains.

The valleys of Lake county abound in the finest bunch grass, cattle are thriving and stockmen have regained their wonted cheerfulness.

Western Star: Two men, brothers, who, for three years have been rambling over the foothills of east Elk creek, and eking a precarious existence, have been under the ban of suspicion among the people of that neighborhood. Good reasons induced the belief that they were implicated in acts of horse and cattle stealing, and as they have absconded it is presumed the suspicion was well founded.

CAUTION

TO UNIFORM DEALERS AND BUILDERS. Beware of imitations of the only brand of LIME which can be relied upon for strength and purity, viz: Cowlitz Mills Lime, which has been in use for over a half a century. Sold only at reduced prices by the undersigned, who have also on hand a large supply of Portland Cement, which they offer to the trade and consumer at the lowest rates. The Cowlitz Mills Lime now in use in the new Custom House, and many other large buildings, has fully demonstrated its superiority over all other brands. Cement from San Juan Island has also been used in this building, and as it is now generally known to be the best cement in the market, it is not necessary to say more than that the two are identical. BUSINESS NOTICES

Pool selling on the boat races to-night at Merritt & Prange's saloon

The Portland Boot and Shoe Store of G W Miller & Co will hereafter be known as the Columbia.

The silent on of the ladies of Portland is called to the Shilo House, corner of Third and Alder Miss Lizzie Lady of rare taste and judgment and wardrobe a perfect fit Be certain and give her a call

The mammoth bazar of Wells Bros & Co is certainly the liveliest business house on the north west coast. Pass them on either side Front or First streets at any time of the day and the store is thronged. Their largely increasing business proves that their purchases are satisfied with the treatment they receive The wholesale department on the upper floor is one of the busiest localities of the immense establishment and they have but recently added a department for special attention to country orders, which requires the services of two clerks. The mammoth parlor is a busy hive and well worth a visit from all strangers coming to Portland It is an index of our commercial prosperity

AMUSEMENTS

THE HEYMAN MARINER CAMPBELL CONCERTS—The concerts inaugurated afternoon and evening at New Market theater were repetitions of the previous triumphs of the company The audiences on both occasions were crowded in the parquet and reserved and half of the gallery It is to be hoped that the artists will have Portland's music lovers with another treat before their return to San Francisco.

The company will leave for Seattle and Victoria Wednesday morning We can promise the people of those cities a musical feast not equaled since the days of Madam Anna Bishop

DROWNED

It is reported that Thomas Dealy a well known fisherman of Astoria was drowned at that place Saturday while on fishing No particulars given.

Under date of June 12th the following dispatch has been received from Astoria Horace Brown son of Captain Hiram Brown the well known pilot of the ocean steamships and part owner in Badollet & Co.s fishery accidentally fell overboard from the steamer Ann at 10 o'clock last night and was drowned The body was recovered this morning

The Astorian of June 12th contains the following It is more than probable that two more fishermen lost their lives yesterday morning, Brayman who was saved by the Mary Taylor asserts that he saw a light in another boat about an hour before daylight The last he saw of it was close to the whistling buoy that short yet fearful time he began breaking heavily and they must have drifted he says where no power on earth could save them

Mr A T Brakken of the Fishermen's Packing Co says Thomas Bell and his boat puller Charles Williams went out Tuesday afternoon and have not been seen since Yesterday Frank Jansson brought up their boat, which had capsized to Mr Brakke as a wrecked condition It had been picked up by Mr Smith of Fort Stevens with nothing whatever in it and there is but the shadow of a doubt that the unfortunate men are lost Bell was a steady, sober man much respected and one of the best fishermen on the river Rumors of other fishing disasters are afloat which we hope will not prove true Thomas Sands and his brother fishing for the Fishermen's Packing company went out on Tuesday same time as Bell and Williams and had not reported up to Friday evening

REVIEW OF THE CHICAGO GRAIN, PROVISION, FREIGHT AND LIQUOR MARKETS.

[SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE OREGONIAN.]

CHICAGO, June 12.—It has been a week of weakness on change, and prices for grain have been on the decline. Corn has stood up firmly compared with wheat and oats. The impression seems to be that notwithstanding the good receipts of corn there has been an unusual draft on the supply in first hands on account of the premium which cash delivery has commanded over future, and that when the ground comes to be looked over it will appear that the corn crop will be the shortest of any now called for, and that the many months between the present and the time when the new crop will be available will cause some strong markets to develop.

The wheat market is very sick, owing to the fine weather and the near approach of harvest. The prices reached to-day were the lowest for more than seven months and although there was a slight reaction at the close, the feeling was at no time very strong. It seems to be conceded that for some reason the clique are holding on and that they expect to make themselves good in the end. The way out does not just now seem very bright, but they may have resources that we do not know of.

The provision market has been very firm, despite heavy receipts of hogs and the advancing tendency has baffled the predictions of old heads.

There was a tremendous rush for freight-room to-day and over a million and a half bushels of grain were contracted for by Lake. It is rumored that a million more bushels were privately arranged for Lake transit to Lower Lake points. Of the amount known to be engaged, over a million bushels were wheat. There is also to be a great increase in the amount of raw tonnage, caused by engagements made to-day for sending grain east by quick transit. The significance of this is to be found in the fact of to-day's decline in wheat. It may cause a reaction Monday to find this vast decrease of stocks in storehouse. Sales for the week were: Wheat, July, 91@92½; corn, 39½@ 37½; oats, 27½@28½; pork, $10 20@10 45; lard, $6 68@6 72. Closing cash prices: Wheat, 92; corn, 34½@34½; oats, 28½; rye, 77; barley, 72; pork, $10 35; lard, $6 60. Closing July prices: Wheat, 92½@92¾; corn, 35½ bid; oats, 27¾; pork, $10 35 bid; lard, $6 60; whisky was 1$ throughout. It is claimed by outsiders that the Chicago whisky market represents only fictitious prices fixed by Chicago wholesalers, and that Cincinnati furnishes the only true quotations. It is also claimed that when orders are sent here for high wines at our quotations it is more often the case that no purchases can be made than that they can. Chicago dealers, on the contrary, make the same charges against Cincinnati dealers and declare that the Chicago quotations are bona fide.

Receipts of grain for the week were as follows: Wheat, 24,600 bushels; corn, 2,421,000; oats, 480,000. Shipments, wheat, 979,000; corn, 2,536,000; oats, 625,000. Receipts same time last year: wheat, 344,000; corn, 1,240,000; oats, 380 000. Shipments, wheat, 253,000; corn, 3,444,000; oats, 412,000. There is a very marked falling off in wheat receipts and it is likely that supplies are well exhausted and that the new crop will find granaries more nearly empty than for ten years before. The shipments have largely exceeded receipts and the stock of grain in store here, counting on consumption has decreased nearly a million bushels during the week, exclusive of to day's heavy engagements.

New York, Boston and Philadelphia Freights.

NEW YORK, June 12.—It is many years since trade with California via Cape Horn was as dull as at present, that is for a long period, while at the same time there are no indications of any improvement. The fact is that there is no disposition to ship goods while prices are so irregular, and until there is an improvement in trade in general, shipments will be light. Most all of the old contracts have been completed and in the meantime no new ones have been made, especially for goods manufactured from iron, and as a consequence we are like to have a dull summer season. Rates of freights are irregular, and in instances lower because of competition to secure any lots offered. Tonnage is in full supply and lines have all required for current wants, which are not many. Lightness freights are also very dull, but that is owing to the short-sighted policy of the managers who persist in keeping a tariff in the market that precludes shippers from forwarding their goods by this route. It is being rumored that the Mail Co. is willing to make contracts with certain shippers, but thus far nothing has been accomplished, and such goods as ought to go by this route are going by clipper.

Freights at Boston are not very lively. They have, however, been done here with shipments of 7331 packages including 220 cases of canned goods, 18 bales hops, 75 packages fish, 425 coils rope.

At Philadelphia the market is very dull, but the agent of the Forester expects to get her off by the 20th inst.

Boston Wool Market.

[SPECIAL TO THE OREGONIAN.]

BOSTON, June 12.—The wool market is very dull and unsettled. Buyers are still holding off and prices are declining. Speculators are disconcerted as early purchases in the interior have proved quite unprofitable. The principal business during last week has been in Kentucky combings. Absence of any movement in California wool is a marked feature of the market, and quotations are entirely nominal. In territory wools nothing was done of any consequence. Pulled wools are in moderate request. Transactions in foreign wools are rather limited and prices nominal. There is but very little pressure to sell.

Chicago Wheat Market.

[SPECIAL TO THE OREGONIAN.]

CHICAGO, June 12.—Wheat heavy, almost panicky; declined nearly 4 cents, recovered somewhat, closing firm at 92¾c for cash, July 86¾, August sales 91¼@95.

Swallowing

POISON

Spurts of disgusting mucous from the nostrils or upon the tonsils, Watery Eyes, Snuffles, Buzzing in the Ears, Deafness, Crackling sensations in the Head, Intermittent Pains over the Eyes, Fetid Breath, Nasal Twang, Scabs in the Nostrils, and Tickling in the Throat are

SIGNS OF CATARRH.

No other such loathsome, treacherous and undermining malady curses mankind. One-fifth of our Children die of diseases generated by its Infectious Poison, and one-fourth of living men and women drag out miserable existences from the same cause. While as loop, the impurities in the nostrils are necessarily swallowed into the stomach and inhaled into the lungs to poison every part of the system.

Dr. Wei De Meyer's Catarrh Cure absorbs the purulent virus and kills the seeds of poison in the farthest parts of the system. It will not only relieve, but certainly cure Catarrh at any stage. It is the only remedy which in our judgment, has ever yet really cured a case of Chronic Catarrh.

G. G. PRESBREY, Prop. West End Hotel, Long Branch, Cured of 20 years Chronic Catarrh.

S. BENEDICT, Jr., Jeweler, 697 Broadway, N. Y. (memb. of family) Cured of Chronic Catarrh.

J. D. MCDONALD, 710 Broadway, N. Y. (Sister-in-Law) Cured of 40 years Chronic Catarrh.

Mrs. JOHN DOUGHTY, Fishkill, N. Y., Cured of 8 years Chronic Catarrh.

Mrs. JACOB SWARTZ, Jr., 200 Warren St., Jersey City, Cured of 18 years Chronic Catarrh.

Wei De Meyer's Catarrh Cure is the most important medical discovery since vaccination. It is sold by all Druggists, or delivered by D. B. DEWEY & Co., 46 Dey St., N. Y., at $1.50 a package. To clubs, six packages for $7.50. Dr. Wei De Meyer's Treatise is sent free to anybody.
